Sustainability Double Degree

Sustainability impacts all aspects of global business, politics, economics, and society, creating a need for leaders who have the skills and knowledge to address issues such as climate change, reliance on traditional energy sources, water issues, and the demand for socially and environmentally responsible products and services.

The B.S. in Sustainability is only available as a double degree. Current OSU students can complete the B.S. in addition to their primary degree program. The degree is designed to complement all OSU degree programs. For example, a student can major in Environmental Economics and Policy and then add the Sustainability double degree to receive a B.S. in both areas of study.

Your Bachelor's Degree BS in the College of Agricultural Sciences

- A minimum of 212 credits are required for graduation with a primary degree and a double degree; 60 must be upper division (300 and 400-level courses).
- A maximum of 135 transfer credits may be applied toward a bachelor's degree at OSU.
- Only courses with letter prefixes and numbers above 100 can be accepted.
- Some courses can count towards your major and General Education. Check with your advisor.
- More info available at <https://catalog.oregonstate.edu/college-departments/agricultural-sciences/sustainability-bs-hbs/>

Important Notes & Resources

Important Notes for the College and Major:

- See the Sustainability Double Degree website at agsci.oregonstate.edu/sustainabilitydd
- See program requirements by searching "Sustainability" at admissions.oregonstate.edu/find-your-major
- Other similar majors to explore: Natural Resources, Fisheries, Wildlife, and Conservation Sciences, and Environmental Sciences
- Sustainability students complete a Practicum, which may be fulfilled by an internship, research, a study abroad program, a service-learning trip, or a sustainability credential exam. See the Sustainability advisor for more information about options and pre-requisites.
- Classes for your primary major and some Core Education are priority courses to complete before transferring to OSU.
- Students can transfer and begin Sustainability coursework any term but should ask the best time to transfer based on their primary major and its requirements.
- It is important to speak with your Sustainability advisor early on, and often, to ensure correct course selection and sequencing.

Resources and OSU Information:

- Students do not have to complete a transfer degree in order to transfer to OSU.
- If you've completed the Oregon AAOT or ASOT, all lower division Core Ed requirements are considered complete.
- If you've completed to CTM (Core Transfer Map) or an MTM (Major Transfer Map), all lower division Core Ed requirements are considered complete except Difference, Power and Oppression Foundations.
